Food prices rocket by record 12%

FOOD inflation has surged to 12.4% to hit a new record amid predictions of a dampened Christmas cheer and "increasingly bleak" winter.

Overall shop prices are now 7.4% higher than last November, up from 6.6% in October, to set another record since the British Retail Consortium (BRC) records began in 2005.

But food inflation zoomed further to 12.4% from October's 11.6% – the highest rate on record due to rocketing energy, animal feed and transport costs.

The BRC-Nielsen IQ Shop Price Index shows fresh food inflation rose higher to 14.3%, up from 13.3% last month, driven by the cost of meat, eggs and dairy.

Christmas gifting is also set to become more expensive with sports and recreation equipment seeing particularly high increases.

Trio cling to ship's rudder for 11 days

THREE stowaways have been found sat on the rudder of a ship after it completed an 11-day voyage from Nigeria, Spanish authorities say.

A photo shared by the coastguard shows the men sitting on the rudder at the oil tanker's helm, their feet three feet from the water.

They were taken to hospital at the tanker's destination in Gran Canaria and treated for moderate dehydration.

The Maltese-flagged Althini II arrived in Las Palmas from Lagos – a journey of more than 2,700 nautical miles.

CHINA'S DIRTY TRICKS

Searches for protests swamped by hooker & porn ads

CHINESE tech fiends are swamping Twitter with sexually explicit posts about porn and HOOKERS in an apparent bid to stop the spread of news about the massive protests against lockdowns and President Xi. Searches for major Chinese cities that have seen mass protests will "mostly see ads for escorts or porn drowning out legitimate search results," according to one data analyst. "Data analysis in this thread suggests that there has been a significant uptick in these spam tweets," the outlet said, sharing data retweeted by Stanford Internet Observatory director Alex Stamos.

The "vast majority" – more than 95% – appear to be spam accounts that "tweet at a high, steady rate throughout the day, suggesting automation," the analysis said.

Stanford University's Mengyu Dong shared images of some of the dubious "escort ads," which she said "make it more difficult for Chinese users to access information about the mass protests."

"Some of these acts have been dormant for years, only to become active ... after protests broke out in China," she said.

One account started seven years ago sent all of its more than 2,000 texts within the last 15 hours. Another had only posted four tweets "AND suddenly posted 3000+ nsfw tweets in ONE day," she wrote. "Sadly if a Chinese person decides to come to Twitter to find out what happened in China last night, these posts shared by bots are likely the first to show in their search," she wrote.

Whites fall by half a million in England

THE number of people in England and Wales identifying their ethnic group as white has plunged by around 500,000 over a decade, census figures show.

Some 81.7% of residents in England and Wales described themselves as white on the day of the 2021 census, down from 86% a decade earlier, the Office for National Statistics said.

The second most common ethnic group was "Asian, Asian British or Asian Welsh" at 9.3%, up from 7.5% in 2011.

The ONS said large ethnicity changes were seen in people identifying as "White: Other White", which stood at 3.7m (6.2%) in 2021, up from 2.5m (4.4%) in 2011.

And numbers of people identifying as "Any other ethnic group" rose to 924,000 (1.6%), up from 333,000 (0.6%) in 2011.

Around one in 10 households (2.5 million) contained members from at least two different ethnic groups in 2021.

This is an increase from 8.7% in 2011, the ONS said.

Less than half now Christian

FEWER than half of the population of England and Wales have described themselves as Christians for the first time, the 2021 census has revealed.

People who said they had no religion increased by 12 percentage points, while the number of people identifying as Muslim has soared by a whopping 1.2 MILLION.

Some 46.2% of the population said they were Christian – 27.5 million people, compared to 33.3 million in 2011.

The census is carried out every 10 years.

Run by the Office for National Statistics, it explores how British society is being shaped from people's answers to questions about themselves, their household and home.

PUB BOSS WARNS RAIL STRIKES WILL WRECK FESTIVE PARTIES...

THE boss of the pub chain Fuller's says rail strikes could see Christmas parties cancelled unless there is a "speedy resolution".

Simon Emeny also warned that staff who rely on hours and tips over Christmas could suffer if there is a wave of cancelled bookings.

He urged the RMT to cancel the strikes to make sure the sector "can have the Christmas it deserves". It recently announced fresh stoppages in the run-up to Christmas.

In the latest in the row over pay, working conditions and job security for rail workers, industrial action will be held across four 48-hour periods on 13-14 and 16-17 December, and 3-4 and 6-7 January.

Mr Emeny said the move

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

could dent trade in a "vital" Christmas period and see customers cancel plans.

"It's been a challenging two or three years for hospitality, so we are all looking at this Christmas as a chance to trade well ahead of what will probably be a tricky winter and these train strikes are going to impact the hospitality sector – but more importantly, hospitality workers," he said.

Resolution

They will probably have hours cut, see tips significantly reduced if these train strikes still happen. We are positive about Christmas but the train strikes are a big problem for the sector," he added.

He also said bookings for Christmas parties and lunches across the pub chain had been "absolutely excellent" so far.

The firm, which employs more than 5,000 people, has so far been telling customers that it believes the strikes could be cancelled or postponed.

"There's only so long we can delay those enquiries about cancelling and really what we need is a speedy resolution – not a resolution at the last minute because people will have changed their plans by then," Mr Emeny said.

The RMT said last week that the strike action would send "a clear message" that workers want a better deal.

More than 40,000 RMT members across Network Rail and 14 train companies are expected to take part.

Another pub boss, Charlie Baker, estimates £200,000 of his business has been cancelled since the announcement.

HANCOCK FACES MP BACKLASH

MATT Hancock will come face-to-face with angry MPs in Parliament this week for the first time since his controversial jungle jaunt as he returns to Westminster for the second reading of his Dyslexia Bill.

The Tory MP is facing questions over his political future following his third-place finish on ITV's I'm A Celeb, with his stint down under drawing criticism from the Commons on Friday. He is also expected to spend time in his constituency this week.

Mr Hancock had vowed to use the "incredible platform" offered by I'm A Celeb to raise awareness of the learning difficulty.

A spokesman for Mr Hancock said: "By going on the show, Matt has raised the profile of his dyslexia campaign and has used the platform to talk about the issue."

BRITNEY Spears has left her fans worried she's gone bonkers again after she posted naked photos in the bath, covering herself with a small flower emoji and placing her hands over her TEATS.

It comes just one day after the pop legend, 40, branded another celebrity a "piece of shit" in an explosive rant.

Captioning the photos on her Instagram, she wrote: "I like to suck !!! Never professional pics ... sucking comes easy for me !!! Keep clapping bitch".

Sad

Her post left fans concerned as they took to the comments, with one writing: "There's no way a coherent Britney Spears posted this."

"I like to suck? Y'all really still think she has control of her socials?"

While another asked: "Does a 14-year-old run this account now? What is going on???"

Adrian: I'm up for 'fun' Line of Duty

ADRIAN Dunbar says he's keen on filming a new series of Line of Duty since the shoot "wasn't quite as fun" with COVID restrictions.

The actor, 64, best known for his role as Chief Superintendent Ted Hastings (above), added fuel to speculation the BBC drama could be returning to TV.

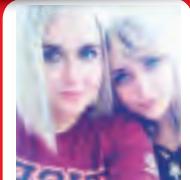

He said: "There's no update yet on whether we can expect a 7th season. There's a willingness among everybody to do something, but I think we're just going to have to wait a little longer."

"It wasn't quite as fun. We couldn't hang out, we couldn't go out. We were all in a kind of bubble so it just didn't have the same feel, which is one of the reasons we'd like to do another one."

When asked whether he'd be available to reprise his role in a spin-off series, the Irish star said: "You'll always be in the market for considering whatever people throw at you."

HAIRY PITS AND BUSHY BITS!

By HARRIET MORGAN
news@sundaysport.co.uk

THE Wall Street Journal is America's version of the Financial Times.

So quite what they're doing wading into the debate about female body hair is anyone's guess.

However, the posh paper has declared armpit hair TRENDY and pointed out that many women – from influencers to OnlyFans models – are happily embracing the fuzz and giving the all-natural look a go.

Back in August, Emma Corrin from Netflix show The Crown flashed her armpit hair in top fashion bible Vogue.

She's just another high profile celebrity to join the long list of ladies opting to let their armpit hair grow out, with singer Miley Cyrus and model Ashley Graham among them.

One woman is even making money from selling pictures of her armpit hair online.

Fenella Fox, 29, of Worcester, is no stranger to stripping off for cash – hairy parts included.

ASHLEY GRAHAM

The successful OnlyFans model makes £6,200-a-month from blokes who love her bushy all-over photos.

She said: "I didn't realise at the time that there is a huge number of men who are sexually attracted to women with armpit hair."

Pussy

"I also felt having a bush made my pussy more special and mysterious, so I grew it out and never shaved it off."

But it hasn't always been that way and smooth armpits have mainly always been the way to go for women.

Hair historian Rachael Gibson told The Wall Street Journal: "In modern history, women have always had smooth armpits in the public eye, so it's hard to undo that."

Removing body hair has dated back to the prehistoric times and during the Roman empire people would use tweezers made from shells to get smooth.

"The key aspect of our study is that we did not reduce the portion size of meals but lowered their caloric content by including potatoes.

"Each participant's meal was tailored to their personalised caloric needs, yet by replacing some meat content with potato, participants found themselves fuller, quicker, and often did not even finish their meal."

"In effect, you can lose weight with little effort."

LOSE WEIGHT WITH HUMBLE SPUD

THE humble potato may be the secret to shedding pounds...

Diet boffins say this is because, at mealtimes, people tend to eat the same weight of food in order to feel full, regardless of how many calories the meal contains.

According to researchers, those who add potatoes, which are carb-rich and dense, to their plate become full faster, therefore preventing them from trying to fill up on more calorific foods after.

Potatoes contain around

80 calories per 100g, more than twice as much as other vegetables such as carrots and broccoli.

But they also contain up to half the calories of bread, pasta and rice, when eaten in the same quantities.

There's a sting in the tail though, because scientists say the best way to prepare spuds – chips – should be avoided, as frying lowers the nutritional value.

Study co-author Professor Candida Rebello, a dietitian at Pennington Biomedical Research Centre in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, said: "People tend to eat the same weight of food regardless of calorie content in order to feel full."

'Bottled up' rage sparked Oscars slap

WILL Smith has said his "bottled" rage led him to slap comedian Chris Rock on stage at the Oscars in March.

The actor has been interviewed for the first time since the incident, which he described as "a horrific night".

He said: "I was going through something that night, you know?

"Not that that justifies my behaviour at all," Smith added that there were "many nuances and complexities to it", but added: "I just – I lost it."

Smith stormed the stage at the Hollywood award ceremony after Rock made a joke about Smith's wife's shaved head. Jada Pinkett Smith has the hair loss condition alopecia.

He had said his wife did not ask him to confront Rock.

"What I would say is that you just never know what somebody's going through."

"I was gone. That was a rage that had been bottled for a really long time," he said...

Mpox is new monkeypox

THE World Health Organization will begin referring to monkeypox as "mpox" due to complaints of "racist and stigmatising language" over its current name.

"Following a series of consultations with global experts, WHO will begin using a new preferred term 'mpox' as a synonym for monkeypox," the Geneva-based outfit said in a statement.

"Both names will be used simultaneously for a year while 'monkeypox' is phased out," the UN health agency added.

It was announced after it was reported the WHO planned to destigmatise the decades-old viral animal disease that began spreading worldwide, mainly through bunnings.

The White House was concerned the name was hampering its vaccination campaign by engendering stigma, particularly among ethnic minorities.

PERV PENSIONER HAD PIGGY-PORN STASH

Judge tells him, 'You're going to have to curb that deviant sexual interest'

SUSPENDED SENTENCE:
Brian Hudson

A REGISTERED sex offender was found with a collection of extreme animal porn involving dogs, eels and even PIGS.

OAP Brian Hudson was found to have 16 films in his house showing animals shagging.

His bedroom in Southampton was being used as a store room for thousands of DVDs, 16 of which related to animal porn.

When questioned on this, Hudson said that they belonged to a deceased relative.

Prosecutor Neil King told Southampton Crown Court how the films "must have been retained for some time" adding that Hudson "doesn't appear to have any expression of remorse".

After police found the videos in April 2020, the 75-year-old was arrested and charged with possessing extreme pornographic images.

He originally pleaded not guilty but changed his plea on the day of the trial.

Mr King told the court Hudson has previous convictions for serious sexual offences and distributing porn.

But mitigating, Ed Wyld said Hudson has not been convicted for some 28 years adding there was "no suggestion of distribution" in this case.

"He tells me that he had not appreciated how serious this matter was," Mr Wyld said.

He added that Hudson has "become, to a degree, a vulnerable person", suffering from memory loss, and is the only driver in his family.

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

The judge, Recorder Don Tait, told Hudson: "You are a registered sex offender already because of your previous convictions."

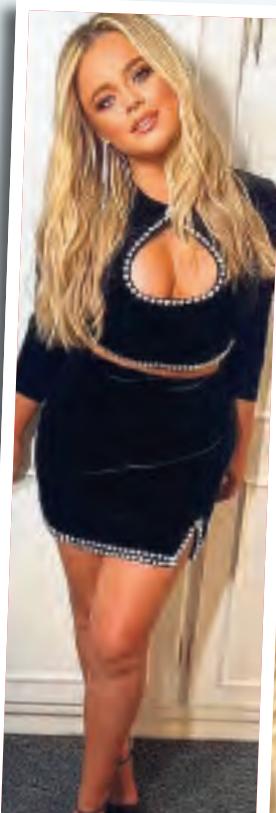

"Your last conviction in 1994, when you were sent to prison for a modest period of time by magistrates, was for possessing extreme articles.

"You have, and I quote, a deviant sexual interest. Well, you're going to have to curb that deviant sexual interest."

However, he said that he would impose a suspended sentence because of Hudson's age and "poor health".

Hudson was handed a 16-month prison sentence, suspended for two years.

He must also complete 40 rehabilitation activity requirement days and abide by a curfew for the next three months, between the hours of 8pm and 8am.

ONLINE SAFETY IS 'WATERED DOWN'

THE Government has dropped measures to ban "legal but harmful" online content, in what some campaigners have called a "watering down" of the Online Safety Bill that's "very hard to understand".

Removing the restrictions marks a more "common sense" approach as they could have led to an "erosion of free speech", the Culture Secretary said.

Michelle Donelan (right) also argued the axed measures had been an "anchor" holding the delayed Bill back.

The ditching of "legal but harmful" measures marks a win for free speech proponents like Trade Secretary Kemi Badenoch, who claimed they would "legislate for hurt feelings", but it faces criticism from other corners of the Tory party.

Donelan's predecessor Nadine Dorries warned women would "kick off" about dropping the duty to remove not only illegal content but also any material named in the legislation as legal but potentially harmful – such as glorification of self-harm or eating disorders.

The former culture secretary cited the case of Molly Russell, 14, who killed herself after viewing self-harm content online.

Molly's father Ian Russell said: "I don't see how you can see the removal of a whole clause as anything other than a watering down."

Kanye up for Anti-Semite of Year gong

TROUBLED Kanye West is set to win an award – Jew-hater of the year!

The disgraced rapper and fashion mogul is front runner to land the shameful title of Anti-Semite of the Year by a group that tracks Jewish hate.

The other finalists for the distinction of dishonour include Mohamed Hadid, the father of supermodels Gigi and Bella Hadid, and Jon Minadeo II, who heads the white supremacist group the Goyim Defense League.

The online group StopAntisemitism.org said West (above) has so far garnered the most votes.

The 45-year-old tweeted last month that he was going to go "Death Con 3" on Jews, with critics considering it a direct threat on the Jewish community.

Adidas, Balenciaga, and other firms have severed ties with West, costing the entertainer a chunk of his fortune, after he "went on a two-week-plus anti-Semitic tirade on social media and press interviews", the group added.

FOUR lion cubs rescued from Ukraine are being flown by private jet to the United States thanks to an animal-loving tycoon

Sabin was alerted to the animals' plight by the International Fund for Animal Welfare, which is also chipping in £40,000, and he arranged for the private jet to get the cubs, named Prada, Taras, Stefania and Lesya, safely to America.

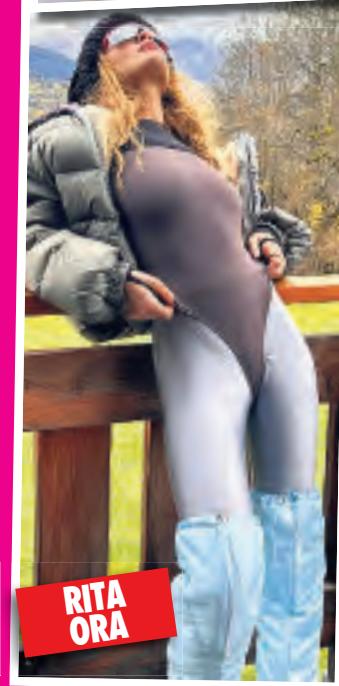

"These are four lion cubs," explained Sabin, who is an activist for endangered animals. "They were confiscated in Odessa," and the cubs were apparently being illegally offered up for sale.

"It was very weird, and not all the time pleasant... still dealing with it."

Speaking about her sex scenes in Skins, almost two decades after the show ended, she said: "At the time you're young and you don't know any better. You don't really know what to say, to speak out. State police said the investigation revealed that Wells had sexual contact with a 17-year-old pupil in 2016 in Christian County.

Wells (below) and her attorney, Olivia Adams, and Commonwealth's Attorney Rick Boling appeared before Judge John Atkins. Boling read the plea agreement in which Wells entered an Alford plea – a technical guilty plea – to an amended charge of second-degree unlawful transaction with a minor, a lesser charge.

Boling recommended a one-year sentence, to be suspended for three years.

Wells will not have to serve any time in prison as long as she doesn't commit any other crimes.

ST ANDREW'S WAHEY!

By ANGUS McCOATHUP
news@sundaysport.co.uk

WEE Miss Sturgeon's bid to lead her people to the promised land has been stymied by the Supreme Court, for now.

But that won't put a dent in this year's St Andrew's Day celebrations across Scotland.

St Andrew has been celebrated in Scotland for over 1,000 years, with feasts being held in his honour as far back as 1,000 AD.

However, it wasn't until 1320, when Scots independence came with The Declaration of Arbroath, that he became patron saint.

Claimed

But just as St George never set foot in England, St Andrew was not Scottish and never visited.

But the early Picts liked the look of him and so took him to their hearts for their church and traditionally, Scots also claimed that they were descended from the Scythians who lived on the shores of the Black Sea in Romania and were converted by Saint Andrew.

Anyway, to celebrate the saint, here's some Scots stunnae with their boobs out.

MY SEX FANTASY

...WITH MARTA, 32DD, FROM BIRMINGHAM

FI CAN'T believe I'm saying this, but my favourite sexual fantasy is to be in a booth and have totally anonymous sex.

I saw it in a porn film and it turned me on.

It was a brothel and a bunch of girls were lying on their backs behind a wall with their waists and legs hanging out of holes in the wall.

You see the men pay to come in and they pick a girl to have sex with.

The women's pictures are displayed on the wall. I've had so many great orgasms imagining that I was one of those girls getting pounded by a guy whose face I couldn't see.

And the guys would move on to the next girl so you wouldn't know how many guys were doing you.

It's just so hot.

Some of the holes in the walls had girls behind giving blowjobs. And some had women with their pussies poking through, to be licked by the strangers.

That's even hotter!

I've lost count of how many times I've watched these type of porn clips!

Joe's selfie with kids is 'creepy'

SOCIAL media users have labelled Joe Biden 'creepy' after the Yank President was pictured lurking in the background of kids' selfies with his face pressed up against a window.

Biden gave youngsters sitting in the Lemon Press Juice Shop on Nantucket island, in Massachusetts, an up-close and personal look when he went up to the store window and smiled for photos.

The President, who was visiting the area with his family for Thanksgiving, was shopping when he stopped to meet his little fans.

"There's Joe! Oh my God, hi!" one of the children can be heard screaming in an online video, as Joe walks down the street sipping a drink.

Biden stops dead in his tracks upon hearing their excited cries and walks over to the window and waves.

Some social media users lambasted the incident, with one writing: "This is not normal. If it was any other old man, you'd all be freaking out, too."

Another said: "It's like a creepy horror movie... save the kids!"

Improve her sex drive with Pilates

If your missus has gone off sex, get her doing some PILATES.

That's the message from boffins who say the yoga-like exercise makes women feel horny.

Researchers studied women aged 20 to 50 who were experiencing sexual dysfunction - defined as any ongoing sexual issue associated with personal distress, including loss of libido.

The women were enrolled on a 12-week programme of Pilates, attending 60-minute classes twice a week.

The study, published in Revista Internacional de Andrologia, found women's sexual function scores improved by 143%.

Lead author, Prof Ahmet Gokce of Sakarya University in Turkey, said Pilates improves sexual function due to its physiological and psychological benefits.

FACE-EATING KILLER IS SENT TO NUTHOUSE

Helen's plumbing gets fans hot under collar!

By BRAD CHADWICK
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A CANNIBALISTIC killer could end up walking the streets again, without ever going to trial.

Former Florida State University fraternity member Austin Harrouff, 25, was deemed not guilty by reason of insanity after randomly hacking John Stevens and his wife Michelle to death with a machete in 2016.

Deputies said they found Harrouff kneeling over Stevens and eating his face, noting that he spat out pieces of flesh before being taken into custody.

After six years of delays, friends and relatives of the slain couple expected the case to go to trial this week, but were stunned to learn that the matter was now closed.

"Here we are opening the prison doors for a double murderer," said Cindy Mishcon, the shellshocked sister of victim Michelle.

"Four words come to mind - white, rich boy justice."

Harrouff, who attacked the couple in their garage, will now be sent to a mental hospital rather than prison and could be released if he's no longer deemed a threat to others.

Had he been found guilty, he would have spent the rest of his days in a prison cell.

Harrouff and his parents, including his dentist father, Wade, always said he was mentally ill at the time of the incident and his attorneys issued a not guilty plea.

Families of the victims have angrily rejected

HELEN Flanagan gave fans a look at her internal pipes when she modelled some frocks in front of a radiator.

The 32-year-old, who played Rosie Webster in Coronation Street, started off in a bra and panties before posing in a range of dresses she was plugging.

One fan said: "I'd love to have a good look at Corrie Rosie's pipes, but I don't mean the ones leading to her radiator! 'Sprong!'"

JUDGE: Sherwood Bauer

NO TRIAL: Austin Harrouff and (below) victims John and Michelle Stevens to the court. "That was news to me."

Harrouff's insanity defence hinged on FBI toxicology results that showed no drugs in his system after the crime and determinations from three doctors that he had had a severe psychotic break.

Cindy mocked that narrative, and read from a long list of texts Harrouff wrote leading up to the slayings.

Harrouff catalogued his almost daily drug use and blackouts, telling friends that he drank heavily and indulged in cocaine, prescription pills, mushrooms, meth, codeine, Adderall and heroin.

Cindy added: "I ask myself, 'Why are we here today? Why is there no trial? And why is my family being denied justice?'"

"Hot weather makes some people grumpy but it just makes me horny. The opposite is the case with what we're having at the moment.

JUSTIN DUNN'S ROOM 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Jill had the jungle licked

IN the end, it was down to a battle of gums.

Matt Hancock's versus Jill Scott's.

And, let's be honest, it was a bit tricky, wasn't it?

No-one wanted Matt to win, not deep down.

But the sight of lesbian Jill giving those stars a firm licking in the final bush Tucker trial may have given some of us pause for thought.

She literally lapped them up.

A tuppence wouldn't know what had hit it – especially not with the impressively fearsome gnashers she possesses, too.

And then, as a side dish, there was Owen, he of Hollyoaks fame, and fine teeth, and finer abs, and a weird idea that fingers are in fact little arms.

But it was only ever going to be Jill who got the crown.

We'll soon forget the two comedian blokes, after all.

And the first two women to be turfed out of the jungle.

Unless we can arsed trying to find Radio X or whatever, we'll probably never hear from Chris Moyles again, either.

And aside from a likely coming-soon greatest hits album, what really is there about Boy George these days?

There was Eileen off Corrie who seemed to me to be there to scowl and mutter a lot, but remain exempt from almost all the trials.

Armpit

The only thing we really learned about her was the frequency with which she attends to her armpit hair.

Thankfully, no other sprouting growths of hair were mentioned.

But what was the point of her going in there in the first place?

So, well done, Jill Scott.

Footie player. Euros winner. Lioness. Queen of the Jungle.

Great sport. Great fun. And grrrrreat tongue action.

Will ad men want Hancock polish?

SO, what now for Matt Hancock?

He claims he has no intention of quitting his MP's seat in West Suffolk, but it seems his constituency party won't give him a choice.

His penchant for wearing black turtleneck sweaters could put him on the radar of the Man from Milk Tray casting agents, although I doubt it, somehow.

He has also managed to do the seemingly impossible by making parkour, or street-running, appear uncool.

And no-one across the entire country will ever be able to slip in a cheeky snog and grope with an office colleague without anxiously scanning the ceilings at work first.

Perhaps he could get into starring in household polish adverts, as never has anyone in the history of everything ever had so much brass neck.

Or sell his gurning too-many-toothed image to the makers of Whac-a-Mole and watch the orders absolutely flood in like, er... in a celebrity cyclone.

But while Ant and Dec are patting themselves on the back, could their team start planning for next year?

For starters, they need some live animals in there to make it a proper jungle.

Monkeys, parrots, the occasional puma?

It's all very well happening across the odd scorpion here and there, but surely a creature that could actually eat the campmates might add a bit more bite to the show?

And if they do, send in that bald railway union boss first.

Teen turned to Instagram after killing

POLICE arrested a boy, 16, after allegedly killing a girl and turning to Instagram for help with disposing of the body.

Cops said emergency operators received a call from the parents of a concerned party who said their daughter received an Instagram video chat from a 16-year-old friend, later identified as Joshua Cooper (above), who said he just killed someone.

In the video, Cooper flipped the video image to show the legs of a person covered in blood, before asking for help in getting rid of the body.

Police were told that Cooper lived in Top of the Ridge Trailer Park in Bensalem, Pennsylvania, and officers went to check the property.

As officers arrived, a juvenile boy ran out from the back of the caravan. Officers then went inside the mobile home and saw a dead girl on the floor of the bathroom with a gunshot wound.

Cooper was quickly found and taken into custody, where he was charged as an adult with criminal homicide, possessing instruments of crime, and tampering with evidence.

Relatives shock over dismembered wife

A MAN killed, dismembered and disembowelled his wife hours before out-of-town family arrived at their home to celebrate Thanksgiving.

Relatives of Karlan and Connie Denio had to take the hinges off a door to enter the couple's home in Albuquerque, New Mexico, when no-one answered – and then made the horrifying discovery.

Karlan Denio, 62, was discovered lying in bed, while his wife, Connie, was found "dismembered and disembowelled" on the bedroom floor.

After the relatives entered the home, a call was made to the police to report that Karlan had allegedly killed his wife.

Police arrived and detained Karlan and found he had cuts on his leg and neck.

PORN LEGEND ANGELA WHITE TALKS ABOUT HER RISE TO FAME...

TAKING CONTROL:
White loves her life in porn

I GET MORE RESPECT BEING BUMMED THAN I GOT FLIPPING BURGERS

SHE'S now one of the biggest names in porn but once upon a time, Angela White was more likely to be found asking: "Can I take your order please...?"

Originally from Sydney, Australia, Angela spent a brief moment in her teenage years working at Burger King and even did a degree, but an early fascination with adult entertainment led her down a different, and lucrative, path.

Now living in LA, she runs her own production company, directs and edits her own content, negotiates her own contracts and is testament to a new type of adult entertainment which is controlled by women.

Sexuality

She's also one of the best-loved BUM SEX stars in the industry, eagerly welcoming huge COCKS up her lovely NIPSY!

And the beauty says she feels far more respected now than she ever did as a teenager flipping burgers.

"I became interested in porn

By HARPER HAYES
news@sundaysport.co.uk

the moment I saw it when I was 14 because it was the first form of media where women were celebrated for expressing and exploring their sexuality," Angela said.

"I want to represent sexuality in a positive light through the work I create and inspire others to embrace their sexuality."

During her teenage years, she explained she "experimented" sexually with both men and women, but was criticised by others about her sexuality.

That interest led to her studying Gender Studies at the University of Melbourne, graduating in 2010 – but her porn career had already begun.

"For me, getting into porn was a decision I made that I was really excited about. It was a choice I made out of the desire to express and explore my sexuality," Angela said.

"It was something that made me feel empowered and in the end I've created a career out of porn. The most important thing for me is being able to live my authentic life and be able to express myself sexually and creatively, with like-minded people in a safe environment."

When comparing on-screen sex and sex with a partner, Angela said with a laugh that the obvious difference is there's 'no lights or cameras' at home.

"There's more of a closeness with sex at home because I'm not required to open up for a camera or get the best angles like I would do in porn," she said, adding: "There's a lot more skin-to-skin contact; it's far more intimate."

HUNTER SHOT DEAD BY HIS OWN DOG

A NEW dad died after he was accidentally shot by his own dog during a hunting excursion.

The freak accident occurred while Ozgur Gevrekoglu, 32, was pursuing game with his pals on the Kizlan Plateau in Turkey's Samsun Province.

While the expedition went off without a hitch, disaster struck while the hunter was packing up to leave.

Gevrekoglu was putting his pet dog in the boot of the car, when its paw inadvertently touched the trigger of the still-loaded shotgun, causing the weapon to discharge into the sportsman at close range.

The dog-lover was rushed to Alaçam State Hospital, but was pronounced dead on arrival.

An investigation is underway into the details surrounding the man's death, which occurred just 10 days after he had become a father.

It's unclear which pup was responsible for the fatal misfire. Gevrekoglu posted photos of himself with several hounds, including one where the smiling outdoorsman was holding up a string of dead birds and petting a dog.

Some Turkish media outlets claim that Gevrekoglu was actually murdered, and the dog excuse was simply a cover-up.

However, as of yet, cops haven't found any evidence of foul play.

This image is a collage of numerous small-scale advertisements for adult phone sex services, likely from a magazine or catalog. The ads are arranged in a grid-like fashion, each containing a different model, a brief description of the service, and a phone number. The models are shown in various states of undress, from fully clothed to topless or nude. The text in the ads is often written in a bold, attention-grabbing font, with some words like 'FETISH', 'DOMINATION', and 'EXTRA RACY' highlighted. Many ads mention '46p PER MINUTE' or 'LIVE 1-2-1'. The overall aesthetic is typical of late 20th-century direct-mail marketing for adult entertainment.

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Ava,

I WORK in an arcade in a seaside town. The money's not bad and there's always a fresh coachload of horny women to try to shag – summer or winter.

The other week I spotted a babe trying to fiddle the machines, so I led her to the back office where I threatened to call the cops.

She said she'd do anything if I didn't and in seconds she was naked and bent over my desk with six inches of cock wedged up her.

And it didn't take long for me to explode in her slot.

While she was getting dressed I asked if she wanted a hot dog. She giggled and said she'd show me a great trick with it.

So I rushed off, imagining it up her snatch, but when I got back she'd done a bunk with the day's takings!

What can I do?

DF, South-East

Ava says...

I GUESS you both hit the jackpot

Dear Ava,

MY mate's mum gave me £50 to shag her and a friend last week.

They're both in their 50s and have pretty decent bodies, even if their faces are a bit wrinkly from all the fags and booze they consume.

I must have made a half-decent job of it because they say they want to make it a regular thing.

They've even offered me an extra £25 if I shag another of their MILF pals.

But I feel guilty about cheating on my girlfriend, not to mention my mate finding out.

Any ideas?

SW, Edinburgh

Ava says...

JUST lie back and think of the money!

Lovin' thy neighbours!

Dear Ava,

I WAS in my garden last weekend tidying up for winter when my new neighbours looked over the fence.

They're a pair of fit babes in their early 20s who moved in a couple of weeks ago, and they asked me round for a few beers.

I was well up for shagging the pair of them and when they started kissing and fondling each other I asked if they could show me upstairs.

After we all stripped off they made a grab for my dick and took it in turns sucking me off until I was on the verge of completion.

We switched round and I boned one of them from behind while she got busy licking out her mate.

They were insatiable and I ended up shagging them again before I passed out knackered.

I saw one of them the next night and she told me that they don't want boyfriends because they have each other and they're normally into lesbo sex.

But they'd like to carry on seeing me for some proper mancock every now and then, to keep their hands in.

Needless to say I'm well up for it but my bastard landlord has just put my rent up by £175-a-month.

I can't really afford to stay but I want to keep shagging these honeys.

Please help!

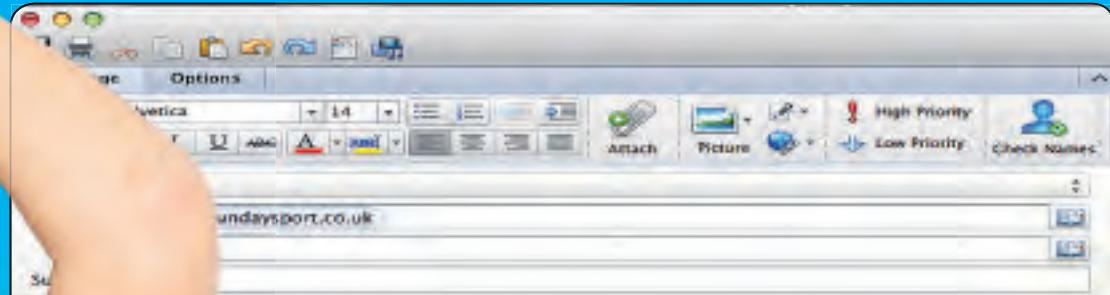

PB, Bolton

GET your hands on the extra money!

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week AVA DALUSH has been reading through your letters. Here's her advice...

GP is just what the love doctor ordered!

Dear Ava,

I USED to be a cheerful person, but since my hubby went off SEX two years ago, I've been more and more down – until I became a right MISERY.

So I decided to go and see my doctor to see if I could get some of those "happy pills" to cheer me up.

My GP listened while I blubbed my eyes out, telling him how I hadn't had sex in ages.

As I talked he gently stroked and patted my knee to comfort me while I saying soothing things about how I was still very attractive and that it sounded like it was my hubby who had the problem, not me.

Vibrator

He also said he understood why I couldn't use a vibrator to pleasure myself because it couldn't tease me beforehand and cuddle me afterwards.

His warm palm tingled through my skirt and the skin on my thigh felt all hot. I could feel the warmth spreading up to my pussy and my fanny lips swelled with blood and opened up like a flower in bloom.

I could feel the heat spreading up my body until my cheeks flushed and my eyes sparkled.

My doc looked into my eyes, smiled, and said: "The reason I can be so sympathetic to your situation is because it's the same one I find myself in. My wife just isn't interested in sex. I miss the touch of another human."

Then suddenly we were smogging each other's faces off. He had a beard, which was a bit scratchy, but it was so nice to be wanted by someone that I could feel my knickers flooding with my juices.

Pussy

The next minute, he had me up on his examination table, knickers down and legs spread. He put his face really close to my fanny and breathed in my scent.

"In my professional opinion, there's definitely nothing wrong with you," he said, winking.

Then he climbed on top of me, pulled his cock out through his fly and stuck it deep into me, filling every inch of my eager pussy.

We f***ed each other to three orgasms before the receptionist buzzed his room to see why he was running half an hour late with his appointments.

As we quickly dressed, he told me that he couldn't shag me again unless I changed doctors because what he'd just done could land him in an awful lot of professional trouble.

Well, I've now registered with a different doctor's surgery and my old GP comes round and gives me a dose of his own form of happiness at least three times a week!

DA, Cornwall

Ava says...

SOUNDS like your old doctor was very naughty! What he did could most definitely get him into a lot of trouble.

I'd tell you to report him, but it sounds like he's just what the doctor ordered!

Dear Ava,

Sex with the merry widow is killing me!

Dear Ava,

I'M a 46-year-old bloke and I've been banging a widow 10 years older than me for the last three months.

I met her in my local and she always came over as friendly and happy – me and my mates had got to calling her the "Merry Widow".

I asked her out and we started dating, going for a few quiet meals and drinks together, stuff like that, before we finally got down to doing the business in her bed.

And was delighted to find that she's a real dirty cow in the bedroom.

My previous girlfriends had been a bit dull in regards to sex, only liking it the missionary position. So I didn't really know there was more to bonking than I'd been getting.

But I soon found out as the Merry Widow encouraged me to lick her out and shag her up the bum.

I once did it five times in a night and I ended up with quite a sore dick!

She also loves being tied up and spanked and always begs me to come on her face and tits.

And she often dresses in sussies and all the gear and rides me to oblivion.

She has a stash of porn DVDs and likes to get up in the kinkiest gear and sit and watch it with me, playing with my cock all the while and from time to time suggesting we do a position we've seen on the screen.

It all sounds like it's perfect, doesn't it?

My only worry is, she's almost killing me with all her sexual demands.

CM, Leeds

Ava says...

STOP moaning! Most men would love to be in your position!

Dear Ava,

MY missus has got a bad back and we've had to get some home help in.

We've read about these "nude" cleaning and housework services and joked about having a woman a couple of days a week for me to ogle, and a fit bloke for her.

When my wife said she'd arranged it I thought I'd be seeing a nude woman parading around our gaff.

Anyway, I had been getting up early for work and getting home late, so it was a few days before I was introduced to her – or should I say HIM...

Because the missus had got a student lad in!

That was OK, but the next day I sneaked home early and there he was starkers doing the chores.

Then the wife walked in and started fiddling with his dick, before they went at it on the floor.

I slipped away and came back the next day to watch a repeat performance.

This time I admit I had a quick wank while he had his head between her legs, then screwed her hard and fast from behind.

I should be angry but the sex is suddenly so much better with my wife, and I'm loath to point out her back seems a lot better.

What should I do?

GF, East Sussex

Ava says...

SACK the lad and clean up yourself, you lazy pig!

SPORT STARTS HERE WITH RACING

BALLYGRIFINCOTTAGE

BALLYGRIFINCOTTAGE can make a successful start to his career over regulation fences in the Jewson St Helens Novices'
Chase at Haydock.

As a multiple point-to-point winner in Ireland, chasing was always likely to be the seven-year-old's game, so it is credit to his latent ability that he managed to do so well over hurdles last term.

The Stowaway gelding was thrown in at the deep end on his Rules debut at Cheltenham last December, but ran a fine race in Grade Two company to finish third behind Irish raider Blazing Khal.

Testing

Ballygrifincottage went on to open his account on the Winter Million card at Lingfield in January and rounded off his campaign with a fair fourth in the Albert Bartlett at the Festival.

With testing conditions set to suit, he can provide Dan and Harry Skelton – riding the crest of a wave after winning the Betfair Chase and Coral Gold Cup the last two Saturdays – with another win.

Lookaway is given a second chance in the Jewson Warrington 'Introductory' Hurdle.

Neil King's Aintree bumper

By MIKE FRANCIS

winner was unsurprisingly a short price on his recent hurdling bow at Warwick, but after jumping well and travelled powerfully, he weakened out of contention to finish third.

Hopefully it was just a lack of match fitness that caught him out that day and he will strip significantly fitter on Merseyside.

Ginger Mail appears a likely candidate for the Celotex Thermo class Handicap Hurdle.

The six-year-old confirmed previous promise when absolutely bolting up at Doncaster in February and beating a useful yardstick in the Skelton-trained Ridgeway – a winner over fences this season.

Ginger Mail is sticking the smaller obstacles for the time being, a decision which paid off with a comeback victory on his handicap debut at Ayr last month off a mark of 114.

The way he stuck to his guns that day suggests a step up in trip could bring about further improvement and a 4lb rise for that win looks more than fair.

A hat-trick could be in the offing for Mullenbeg in Ludlow's Marsh Commercial Mares' Handicap Hurdle.

The Listed bumper winner was beaten at odds-on in her first two races over hurdles, but rewarded those who kept the faith when making no mistake at the third time of asking.

With her hurdles form still some way short of what she achieved in bumpers, the Milton Harris-trained filly entered the handicap sphere with a workable rating of 108 at Fakenham on her most recent start and got the job done well in the end despite racing a shade too keenly.

If that enthusiasm can be harnessed, a 6lb hike may not be enough to prevent her from going in again.

Emma Lavelle's Sam Barton looks the answer to the Corrie Cup Handic平 Chace.

Progress

Placed four times without winning earlier in the year, the Black Sam Bellamy gelding carried the famous colours of the late Trevor Hemmings to an overdue victory on his reappearance at Worcester last month.

With further progress likely, he can defy a 5lb rise.

Siskany may be capable of giving weight to his rivals in the Listed Unibet Wild Flower Stakes at Kempton.

The four-year-old has won stakes races at Meydan and Newmarket and was last seen finishing third in a German Group One.

Siskany has already won at Kempton, so there are no worries regarding the surface, and he sets the standard.

Casemiro is best in the world says Tite

BRAZIL BOSS AND NEYMAR SING PRAISES OF MAN UTD MIDFIELDER

BRAZIL boss Tite and injured superstar Neymar hailed Casemiro as the "best midfielder in the world" after seeing him fire his country through to the World Cup knockout stage.

The Manchester United man's 83rd-minute strike secured a 1-0 Group G win over Switzerland on Monday which means they are through with a game to spare, prompting Neymar to tweet after the game: "Casemiro has been the best midfielder in the world for a long time."

Asked at his post-match press conference if he agreed, Tite said: "As a habit, I always respect opinions and I usually don't comment on opinions, but I will allow myself to do so today. I agree."

Without Neymar, Brazil were frustrated for long periods at Stadium 974 before Casemiro rounded off good work by Vinicius Junior and substitute Rodrygo to score the game's only goal and send them into their final group fixture against Cameroon on Friday in a commanding position.

By JOHN ANTHONY

Asked about the Paris St Germain star's absence, Tito said: "Obviously Neymar has a different skill-set. He is a player who in a magical moment can dribble past you and all of a sudden, you say, 'What happened here?'. He has that skill."

"Other players are getting there to get to the level he is at and I hope they get there. Yes, we do miss Neymar, we do miss him. He has a big creative power, he's very effective so we miss him, yes."

"But there are other players who can take their opportunity."

Casemiro, who joined United from Real Madrid this summer, played down his decisive intervention and insisted Brazil were better-placed to mount a serious challenge for glory than they were four years ago, when they were beaten by Belgium in the last eight.

He said: "Four years have gone by, there are new players."

"This year we have a wider range of options, we have more players to choose from. Without even changing the team, we have a possibility of changing the way we play. If we substitute players, we have even more options."

BIG FAN:

"Therefore, there is no doubt whatsoever that the options are much greater than those in 2018."

Switzerland boss Murat Yakin admitted his side had lacked the "courage" they needed to take the game to the South Americans, but swiftly turned his attention to Friday's showdown with Serbia.

Decisive

The sides met in Russia four years ago, when Granit Xhaka and Xherdan Shaqiri, who are both of Albanian-Kosovan heritage, found themselves the subject of disciplinary action after making nationalist gestures during their side's 2-1 win.

Yakin said: "We have to focus on football, just on football. For both teams, this is a decisive game and it will be an interesting and exciting game."

"We want to focus on football. Everything else, I really don't care about."

GOING: Binotto

All change at the top for Ferrari

FORMULA ONE

MATTIA Binotto has resigned as Ferrari team principal.

Binotto, 53, will leave his post on December 31 after four seasons at the helm of the Italian team.

Ferrari finished second in last season's championship, while Charles Leclerc ended the year as runner-up to Red Bull's Max Verstappen in the drivers' standings.

But Binotto is moving on following a catalogue of Ferrari errors which dented Leclerc's charge for the title.

"With the regret that this entails, I have decided to conclude my collaboration with Ferrari," said Binotto, who joined Ferrari in 1995.

"I am leaving a company that I love, which I have been part of for 28 years, with the serenity that comes from the conviction that I have made every effort to achieve the objectives set."

"I leave a united and growing team. A strong team, ready, I'm sure, to achieve the highest goals, to which I wish all the best for the future. I think it is right to take this step at this time as hard as this decision has been for me. "I would like to thank all the people at the Gestione Sportiva who have shared this journey with me, made up of difficulties but also of great satisfaction."

Ferrari said that a process to identify Binotto's successor is "under way".

Reports in Italy earlier this month suggested Alfa Romeo team principal Fred Vasseur is in line to replace Binotto. At the time, Ferrari dismissed the report as "totally without foundation".

Ross Brown, who has left his role as Formula One motorsport boss, was another name mooted to take over from Binotto.

But the Englishman, 68, who helped to mastermind Michael Schumacher's five consecutive world championships with Ferrari at the turn of the century, confirmed he is retiring from the sport.

Leclerc won two of the opening three races this year to provide Ferrari with hope they could end a drivers' championship drought which stretches back to 2007.

Ferrari chief executive Benedetto Vigna said: "I would like to thank Mattia for his great contributions over 28 years with Ferrari and for leading the team back to a position of competitiveness."

ENGLAND STICK WITH BAZBALL

BRENDON McCULLUM insists England will not deviate from the positive attacking cricket they showed over the summer as they look to continue entertaining in their first red-ball series in Pakistan since 2005.

England are due to start their first Test on Pakistani soil for 17 years in the early hours of tomorrow, having played seven T20I matches in the country during September and October.

McCullum's side are the second of the major cricketing nations to embark on a Test tour of Pakistan after a long absence on security grounds, following Australia's three-match series in March.

On that occasion, the first two Tests ended in high-scoring draws before Australia clinched a series victory in the final game.

England will now look to emulate Australia's success as they look to build on an impressive summer which saw them win six out of seven Tests under the new leadership of captain Ben Stokes and head coach McCullum – with the emphasis on playing exciting cricket that produces results rather than draws.

"This is obviously a great place to tour and it's been starved of international cricket for a long period of time," McCullum said.

"We understand how passionate people are here in Pakistan about this form of cricket and we understand the obligation that we have as an England side, and we are looking forward to coming over here and playing an entertaining style of cricket which hopefully ends up in results, whether that's in our favour or in Pakistan's favour."

"Hopefully everyone that does dial into this series, not just in Pakistan but around the world, sees that international cricket is back in Pakistan and we've got a product that's worth watching."

England will face Pakistan in three Tests, with matches in Multan and Karachi following the first clash in Rawalpindi.

Only James Anderson was there when England last played Tests and one-day internationals in Pakistan back in 2005, and the seam bowler only took the field for the white-ball matches.

Excited

However, while the tour may be something of a journey into the unknown for many of the team, McCullum insisted the side were excited by the prospect of playing at a stadium England have never previously contested a Test at.

"The boys have already said they're pretty excited about playing in front of a full house here, it's going to be a good atmosphere, so they're really excited."

"That's what we want from red-ball cricket all around the world is stadiums packed out and fans getting behind their local team."

"The skipper wants them to be rock stars and to be a rock star you've got to play in front of the big houses. We've got that opportunity to do that."

LIVINGSTONE READY TO SEE RED

LIAM Livingstone looks set to play a full part for England against Pakistan – even though he hasn't played a red-ball match in 2022.

The 29-year-old was part of England's successful T20 World Cup campaign in Australia earlier this month and was a surprise name in the Test squad for their first tour of Pakistan since 2005.

Lancashire player Livingstone has built his name as a prolific limited-overs performer and has not played a first-class game since September 2021.

However, England head coach Brendon McCullum believes that does not matter. "Not really. I think he's a good player, we'll find out I suppose," the New Zealander said.

By GEOFF TRUEMAN

I've seen a bit of him on the T20 circuit and enjoyed his style of play. He bowls off-spin, leg-spin, fields well and smacks the ball out of the park – it's hard not to get around a player who plays like that.

It's a real feather in the cap for the skipper that one of the best T20 players in the world is desperate to be part of the squad because of the goodwill that's been built up over the last few months.

"So they've got all excited for his involvement and I'm sure he'll be able to put in a strong performance given the opportunity."

Livingstone is one of two all-rounders who were called up for their maiden Test tour, with Will Jacks also yet to represent England in the longest format.

Jacks played 11 first-class games for county champions Surrey last season and averaged 54 with the bat.

The duo will also bolster an inexperienced spin attack, of which only Jack Leach has Test caps, with 18-year-old Rehan Ahmed the only other tweaker in the squad and has just three first-class appearances under his belt. McCullum believes the England environment is the best place to develop Ahmed's talent.

"He's a rough diamond, 18-years-old, leg-spinner who can spin the ball both ways, dynamic in the field and he's got a power game and likes to play the game at a high tempo," he said.

"He's nowhere near the finished article, but what's the alternative? Leave him in a system which may not come through as the product you'd hope for in the end?"

"So we get him in here and the coaching staff believe we can help get to his talent quicker."

"If we can't, that's our problem, not his."

NEW BOSS: Kolo Toure

Wigan call on Kolo as new gaffer

KOLO Toure has been appointed as the new manager of Sky Bet Championship club Wigan.

The former Arsenal, Man City and Liverpool defender succeeds Leon Richardson, who was sacked earlier this month.

Toure has signed a three-and-a-half year contract with the Latics after leaving his coaching role at Leicester.

He takes over at the DW Stadium with the club 22nd having won just six of their 21 games.

Chief executive Malachy Brannigan said: "We are delighted that Kolo has become the new manager of Wigan Athletic Football Club, and the board are pleased that he is the man to take us forward."

"We received a high calibre of applicants for the manager's job in recent weeks, in a very thorough recruitment process as we looked to appoint the right person for the role."

"From the earliest of conversations we had with Kolo, it was evident to us that he had instantly bought into the values of the club with his enthusiasm, knowledge and immense desire to work and be part of Wigan Athletic shining throughout the process."

"There is no doubt that this appointment is an exciting one for the football club."

"Kolo is a manager who wants to play a positive brand of football and will strive every day to make the club stronger."

Toure, a former Ivory Coast international and Africa Cup of Nations winner, first came to English football when he joined Arsenal in 2002.

He won the Premier League as a member of the Gunners' 'Invincibles' side in 2004 before going on to win another title with City in 2012.

He later had spells with Liverpool and Celtic before moving into coaching under Brendan Rodgers, first at the Scottish club and then at Leicester.

Former Crawley manager Kevin Betsy and Ashvir Johal, who had been working alongside Toure at Leicester, have also been appointed to the Latics coaching team.

Rob Kelly, who had been caretaker boss since Richardson's departure and oversaw a win over Blackpool in their last game, is to remain at the club as an assistant manager. James Beattie, however, has left his coaching position.

KANE IS A TRUE LION

Trippier pays tribute to England skipper who wants to be on the pitch for every minute

KIERAN Trippier believes Harry Kane's determination to play in every game is clear proof of the England captain's professionalism.

Two former skippers – Alan Shearer and Wayne Rooney – have suggested the striker needs a breather.

Kane has played all-but 14 minutes of Premier League football for Tottenham this season and there was talk of him heading to Qatar under a fitness cloud.

But Trippier has hailed Kane's approach and praised the desire of the 2018 World Cup golden boot winner.

"It says everything you need to know about Harry," the Newcastle full-back said.

"I've been lucky enough to play with him for club and country and I've always said it, he's one of the best professionals I've ever played with.

"The main leader in our group, Everybody wants to play every game and so does Harry."

"He is a winner, he wants to win and do his country proud. He does want to play every game but that is up to Harry."

Trippier reckons the mentality of such elite players is what sets them apart from their contemporaries and other players.

"Harry behind the scenes, the way he conducts himself and leads by example, especially with the team we've got, and the young players," he said.

"They look up to him and watch him: how he trains, how he recovers, how he prepares for games."

"And there's no one better to watch, even I'm still watching him every day and learning stuff off him every day because I look up to him as well."

While England hit Iran for six, they came up short in front of goal against the United States as Trippier suggested the ball – the Adidas 'Al Rihla' – could be causing all World Cup teams some teething issues.

"Every time I've crossed the ball I've felt the balls are a bit different but there are no excuses really," he added.

Lighter

"I would just say the balls are a bit different but it is not the heat or anything. I'm not too sure, maybe it is the players!"

"I feel it's a bit lighter. It feels if you put too much power on it, it will just fly away but yeah it's one of them where we have to deal with that, all of us do. We train with the same ones. It's a football, isn't it!"

James Maddison feels fit, sharp and like his World Cup starts now after the England midfielder overcame a knee complaint.

The in-form 26-year-old was the most eye-catching name in Gareth Southgate's squad bound for Qatar having only previously represented his country once back in November 2019.

Maddison had hearts in mouths just a couple of days later when limping out of Leicester's win at West Ham with a knee complaint that subsequently ruled him out of England's first two Group B games.

The midfielder returned to full training on Saturday after a period of rehabilitation and is champing at the bit to impress for his country on the world stage.

"It's really nice to be back in training, obviously going from being very frustrated," Maddison said.

"I was in good form, getting the call-up, which is what I was after, getting to Qatar and then having that little problem that was keeping me inside for a little bit longer than what I would have hoped.

"But it's feeling good now, back out full training, have been for the last few days so feeling good, feeling sharp and ready for the game."

Asked if he feels like his World Cup is starting now, he said: "The first two games it's been about, for me, being there for the lads."

"Obviously not being able to affect it on the pitch and haven't been on the bench because of the little knee problem I've had."

"But I'm feeling good now, I'm feeling fit and almost like, yeah, my World Cup starts now."

"Back in training, this will be the first game that I've been involved in, so it's about showing that I'm here now and I'm here to do a job."

"Hopefully that'll happen and if I get the chance show what I can do. Just do what I do on a weekly basis."

Maddison turned 26 during the World Cup and the midfielder spoke glowingly about the way team-mates and the Football Association helped him celebrate and praised the spirit Southgate has helped to cultivate.

"Honestly, the feel in the group and the dynamic amongst the squad is something I've probably never seen before," he said.

"Obviously from the outside in previous years and seeing the Euro stuff and that, you look at the videos, the Insta, the Lions' Den and stuff like that and you can just tell like the camaraderie and the atmosphere is so positive and so good."

"It doesn't disappoint when you're in it. That togetherness among us is brilliant."

Maddison added: "I just think the squad at the minute, it's just got a perfect balance."

"And to be fair, even going bigger than that with all the staff and the togetherness – the perfect example was we played a game well and it just brings everyone together."

Ronaldo set for emotional Lisbon return as Real Madrid ponder bid

By JOHN ANTHONY

CRISTIANO Ronaldo looks set to snub Chelsea and Newcastle after the World Cup.

He is on the verge of returning to his boyhood club Sporting Lisbon – although Real Madrid are not out of the running just yet.

Ronaldo has just seen his contract with Manchester United ripped up after his explosive interview with Piers Morgan.

He is currently trying to win the World Cup for Portugal but reports in his home land suggest he will be back in the capital after Christmas.

The 37-year-old was offered a massive deal to play in Saudi Arabia but that has been discounted.

It was thought he would get on the Major League Soccer gravy train – or the retirement league where the likes of David Beckham and Steven Gerrard had one last payday.

But he is said to have his heart set on staying in Europe and playing at least one more season in the Champions League.

Reports in Portugal suggest he would lower his wage demands enough for Sporting to afford him alongside having no transfer fee – although Madrid may also make a move.

He signed for the Lisbon side as a 12-year-old before moving to Manchester in 2003.

The snag could be the fact that Sporting currently sit fourth in the Portuguese league but it's still early days and the arrival of Ronaldo would surely give them a boost as they chase old rivals Benfica who are top.
